VOL. VIII. NO. 297. CHICAGO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1902. PRICE 5 CENTS

EDWARD CORRIGAN'S HORSES.

Mr. Corrigan has seventy horses in training at the local track. This is the largest training stable ever quartered at Churchill Downs. Mr. Madden has forty-two thoroughbreds at the Downs, as he brought twenty-four in with him yesterday from Lexington. Both turfmen will be in Louisville on and off during the entire winter and spring. Mr. Madden will go east before the Louisville meeting begins with a fine string, which will race on the eastern tracks, but Mr. Corrigan's horses will remain here, at least most of them, and he will point four or five for the coming Kentucky Derby, which will be run at the Downs on May 2.

"I have four or five youngsters which I will try to get ready for the Kentucky Derby," said Mr. Corrigan at the Gault House last Friday afternoon. "Three of these are by Riley, and the other two are by Artillery, out of good mares. I don't say that I will win the Derby next spring, but I will say that I have some likely youngsters entered in that stake, and I will not start one of them unless he is in shape and has a chance to win the race."

"I have now over seventy horses at Churchill Downs. This is the biggest stable I ever had here or anywhere else, and while I will weed them out before spring enough will be left to make up a big stable. No, I am not making any claims as to what I will do next season, but I will say that I have the nicest looking bunch of yearlings in this country at present. What they will do next spring and summer is, of course, problematical. There is no telling what they will amount to."

"I will remain in Lexington only one day. My wife is there, but she will soon go to my southern place in Alabama, across the river from Mobile. I will come back here and leave Sunday noon for New Orleans with fifteen horses. I will stay in New Orleans but a day or two, and then go to Kansas City, where I am at the head of the syndicate which is building a new racetrack there. However, I will spend all my time this winter between Louisville and New Orleans."

"No, I have no particular plans for New Orleans, except that I am going to race some of my horses there this winter, and, of course, expect to make expenses."

"What about that new track you are interested in at Kansas City?" was asked.

"Well, it will be a good one," replied the ex-master of Hawthorne. "A civil engineer has been at work there for some time in levelling and making a profile map, and, I think, the grading will begin at once. We expect to expend something like $300,000 on improvements. The track will be up to date in every way, and the grandstand, stables, etc., will be as fine as money can make them."

"We will not give a race meeting over the new track until next fall, say in August. My idea is to give a three weeks' meeting, as I think this is long enough for any city of 200,000 inhabitants. Of course, the racing will be done under the auspices of the Western Jockey Club, and our dates will not conflict with those of any other track, because we are too far west to do any harm. I expect to hang up valuable purses, and that horses of high class will contest for them, for the prizes will be worth racing for."

"My home is in Kansas City, by the way. I own a nice home there, but have not lived in it for something like thirteen years. This was because I have been running around all over the world, in England and elsewhere, wherever my business called me. We will have all this winter and next spring in which to build the track there, and it will be ready in plenty of time for the races."

"No, I can't say much about the horses. I will winter here at Churchill Downs. While it is true that I have over seventy head at the local tracks, many of them are untried youngsters. Of course, I have Scintillant II., winner of the Cesarewitch Stakes in England; Fancy Man and other high-class thoroughbreds there, but for the most part the horses are untried. I have thirty-five yearlings at the track and the same number of older horses. Joe Hays has charge of the youngsters, while Dan Yeager is in charge of the older horses. Of course, I superintend the work of all. As yet the colts have been given only enough exercise to keep them in a healthy condition, but I will ask them some questions later on."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

The future of Kenilworth Park, Buffalo, is shrouded in mystery. At present it is in the hands of the sheriff, but there is talk that several combinations stand ready to buy it in. There is also a rumor that leading men in The Jockey Club, acting on the advice of S. S. Howland, who acted as steward at the Buffalo meeting last summer, may buy the track and run it on the lines followed at other tracks in New York state. The report that John J. Ryan, who is attempting to get up a circuit of out-law tracks, will include Kenilworth Park is generally disbelieved, inasmuch as it would be impossible to conduct such a meeting within the confines of the state of New York, where the Racing Commission is supreme.

Hart Derrham is now the sole owner of the horses which have been racing in the name of Curtis & Derrham. Several days ago he bought out Curtis' interest in the stable, the horses in the string being Peat, Huzzah, Worthington, Optional, Marcos and Begone. He says he was influenced to take the course he adopted because of the talk about co-operative bookmaking and ownership, and that he went before a notary public and made affidavit that the sale was bona-fide. He paid over the money in the presence of the notary.

The four-year-old bay filly All Saints, by St. Saviour—St. Cypria, by St. Gation, is dead at the farm of the Virginia breeder, William Garth. All Saints was owned by Algernon Daingerfield, of Lexington, Ky., and was regarded as highly valuable, inasmuch as during her turf career she has, up to the close of the present season, won fourteen races. Daingerfield left her in Virginia at the close of the Benning's meeting to rest up for a few weeks before shipping her to Kentucky.

A controversy over the ownership of the horse Brandy Smash came up at the New Orleans fair grounds last Monday. The horse has been racing there under the name of J. Evans. A person named T. Hagan claims to be the real owner of the horse. He said that he was the one who supplied the money to buy Brandy Smash, and that he only agreed to divide the profits with Evans. He produced a paper signed by Evans to this effect. Brandy Smash has won several purses and Hagan claims that he has not received his share of them. On the other hand, Evans says he has a bill of sale made out in his name, and on this he sets up his claim of absolute ownership. The affair looks like a mixed-up matter and one for the stewards to unravel. There is certainly something back of it.

Algernon Daingerfield, assistant secretary of the Washington Jockey Club, has sold to John E. Madden, Hamburg place, the seven-year-old chestnut mare, Lady Scarlet, by Pirate of Penzance—Pappoose. Pappoose is the dam of Myrtle Harkness, which threw Aceful and was an Oaks winner. She is owned by Madden also.

W. C. Whitney is increasing his breeding farms extensively, for, at the sales at Newmarket, his agent, John Huggins, bought Lord Clonmel's mare, Regatta, in foal to St. Frusquin, for $5,000, and Santa Stella, in foal to Cyliene, for $8,000. It is the intention of Mr. Whitney's agent to send the latter mare to America for the American millionaire's stud in Kentucky.

Winner—B. c. by Nomad—Violette (trained by J. L. Clayton).
Went to post at 2:01. At post 3 minutes. Start bad. Won easily; second driving. Arthur Ray broke flatfooted and went through next to the rail, taking the lead in the first quarter, which he retained easily to the end and was best. Jim Brownell, away running, just lasted long enough to beat Harry Thatcher. The latter was worsted at the start and worked a rough journey under bad handling. At the end Tulare was closing up strongly. Buck Taylor was practically left and had a scant chance.
Arthur Ray, show, 7 to 5. Jim Brownell, show, 6 to 5. Harry Thatcher, show, 3 to 5. Buck Taylor, show, evens.

Winner—B. c. by Sain—Derfargilla (trained by G. Covington).
Went to post at 2:30. At post 3 minutes. Start fair. Won driving; second easily. Deutschland broke flatfooted, but quickly raced into prominence, joined Iredeus in the stretch and outstayed him after a long, hard drive. The latter was pinned in next to the rail in the last quarter by the winner and repeatedly bumped. Fossil ran in the first flight to the stretch, where he fell away from the first two, but was easily third best. Polonius wants a longer race probably or is a counterfeit. Jockey Club, nearly left, made up much ground and will win when placed right. Gorgalte was evidently handicapped by the going. Orsius is fast, but faint-hearted, and has worked very fast.
Deutschland, show, 1 to 4. Iredeus, show, 2 to 5. Fossil, show, 6 to 5.

Went to post at 2:57. At post 3 minutes. Start bad. Won driving; second easily. Sunello, favored by the going, forced the pace throughout and outstayed Goldone in a sharp drive through the stretch. The latter appeared like the winner in the stretch, but swerved badly at the end. Imperious was best, but was poorly ridden and pocketed. He should have been taken to the front where he runs kindly. The Miller is improving and finished well. Digby Bell failed to stay and ran a bad race.

Went to post at 3:25. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won driving; second easily. Articulate, lucky and skillfully ridden, waited on the pacemaker to the stretch, where he dashed to the front and seemed an easy winner, but was unexpectedly driving hard at the end to beat Corrigan. The latter received a dilatory ride, was knocked back on the turn and crowded when a furlong out, but finished like a flash and was much the best today. Hainault, showing sudden and extreme improvement, was a dangerous contender up to the last fifty yards and ran the best race of his career. Beau Ormonde disliked the going and failed to stay after displaying brilliant early speed.

Winner—B. c. by Stuyvesant—Katie A. (trained by G. B. Morris).
Went to post at 3:52. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second driving. Stuyve, lucky and given a skillful ride under a pull, was reserved for six furlongs and made good with a brilliant rush in the last quarter. Dunblane also waited on the pacemaker and with a close stretch turn finished very strongly. Autolight lost many lengths at the start and closed a tremendous gap, finishing fast.

Our Sheets are filed daily at Daily Racing Form office

PEARL FINDER, 7-2 WON

OPTIONAL, 3-2 . . . WON

BEDNER, 6-1 . . . WON

Our clients received the above good things yesterday. Pearl Finder was given in the series of our guaranteed One-Horse-per-Day Specials at New Orleans. Optional and Mr. Dingle were named to win on our Daily Handicap Sheets. The latter was the only selection given at Ingleside.

MR. DINGLE, 10-1. KENILWORTH, 6-5, 2nd.

Were our full selections at the coast track Wednesday.

Today We Have More Valuable Information

At both tracks. Our One-Horse Wire at New Orleans will deliver the goods as usual.

TERMS $1 DAILY; $4 ANY SIX DAYS.

Delivered to any city address before 12 o'clock

Wired at 10 a.m. For sale at news stands southeast and northwest corners Clark and Madison Sts.

Evea G., easily best, ran the entire journey with her head turned loose and, while outsprinted in the last quarter, was going easiest of all at the end. Bill Massie went well throughout. Nonie ran a good six furlongs.

Stuyve, show, 2 to 5. Dunblane, show, 1 to 2. Autolight, show, 7 to 10. Evea G., show, 1 to 5.

36622 SIXTH RACE—6 1-2 Furlongs. Purse $400. 3-year-olds and upward. Allowances.

Winner—B. c. by Sabine—Starlight, by King Alfonso (trained by F. W. Doss).

Went to post at 4:21. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Bedner quickly worked into the lead and showed much speed, but was tiring at the end and barely managed to last. Golden Cottage, always close up, finished well and was slowly wearing the winner down at the end. St. Sever was swerving at the end and can do better. Hungarian ran on the outside throughout, losing six lengths on the stretch turn, finished strongly and was possibly best, but badly ridden. Nilgar retired early. Assessment quit in the last furlong.

Scratched—36561 Kickumbob, 114.

Bedner, show, evens. Golden Cottage, show, 11 to 20. St. Sever, show, 2 to 1.

Winner—Ch. f, by Ornament—Lucy Crockett (trained by W. O. Joplin).
Went to post at 1:59. At post 4 minutes. Start poor. Won easily; second the same. Suburban Queen broke from the outside and was on the path all the way, showed the most speed and was never in trouble. Fading Light began slowly and Gannon was hard at work on her all of the last quarter. She finished gamely under a drive, but could never get up. Varna Fonso was tiring at the end, but was easily the best of the others. Nellie Bly II. refused to break. Sweet Marjorie probably did not like the going.

Overweights—Ditto, 1 pound.

Suburban Queen, show, 2 to 1. Fading Light, show, out. Varna Fonso, show, 2 to 1.

Winner—Ch. f, by Albert—Option (trained by H. Derrham).
Went to post at 2:29. At post 4 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second the same. Optional displayed the most speed nearly all the way, took command without much effort and was never in trouble. Bummer was as easily the best of the others, was off running and had every advantage. Andes finished well and shook off White Owl in the stretch run. The latter tired as if short. Paul Creyton was eased up when beaten.

Scratched—36589 Ordnung, 112; 36576 If You Dare, 105; 36553 Lighthunt, 100.

Apprentice allowance. Time, 2:14, 53 1/2, 1:22, 1:50 1/2.
Winner—B. f, by Kantaka—Nocturn (trained by H. C. Schulz).
Went to post at 3:00. At post 4 minutes. Start bad. Won ridden out; second easily. Pearl Finder was interfered with at the start and had to bump her way through. Hicks took her to the extreme outside, closed a big gap in the run down the backstretch, took the lead while rounding the first turn and had enough left at the end to stall off Swordsman's challenge. The latter ran the best race, closed a tremendous gap, finished strongly and would have won with an even start. Alfred C. was off running and had every advantage, but tired after going a half. Peter Duryea, Swordsman and Jerry Hunt were standing sideways when the barrier went up.

Pearl Finder, show, 3 to 5. Swordsman, show, 2 to 1. Alfred C., show, 4 to 1.

Winner—B. g, by Star Ruby—Baby (trained by H. C. Schulz).
Went to post at 3:29. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won easily; second the same. Honolulu had the outside position at the post, got off in his stride, made a runaway race of it and was never in trouble at any stage. C. B. Campbell ran well and was easily the best of the others. Ray and Rolling Boer fought it out all the last quarter and Ray outstayed the latter. Rolling Boer tired when it came to a hard drive. Orpheum was eased up in the last quarter and was in the deep going all the way.

Scratched—365402 Sarner, 104; 36495 Lady Sterling, 101.

Winner—B. h, by Knight of Ellerslie—Spaldie (trained by M. Goldblatt).
Went to post at 3:54. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won ridden out; second easily. Latson went around Optimo while rounding the far turn, fought it out sharply all through the last quarter and was going away at the end. Optimo was on the path all the way, but tired in the last sixteenth and was swerving over toward the inside rail as the winning mark was passed. Prince Blazes was outrun all the way and can do better. Tour was off running and showed speed for a half and then tired.

BETTING IN ENGLAND.

Considerable commotion has been caused in English sporting circles recently by the attack of the bishop of Hereford on the turf, bookmaking, and the evils of horseracing in general. His eminence makes no secret of his intention when he says he hopes to agitate the introduction of a measure in parliament that will completely revolutionize the sport. There is little doubt that the efforts of the good Dr. Percival will have an effect some way, for he has a host of followers who voice his opinion. In his speech on betting Dr. Percival expounded his plan for first of all getting rid of the bookmakers. He would fine a "booky" $50 for the first offense, $100 for the second, and for the third he would send him to prison for a lengthy term. The tipster, too, is to come in for a share of his attention and for even the seemingly harmless offense of a private "wire" he would put the wily vendor in jail. While all this is pleasant enough to the minds of a section of the English people, those who love the sport and insist on their rights to bet when and where they please are simply infuriated by its pretensions. The millionaire or big stable owner will not brook the interference of any man to tell him that he is wrong when he bets and neither will the mechanic or costermonger. Old Blue, one of the keenest critics in England, devotes a lot of attention to the question, and in a lengthy article sails into the bishop right, buck and center. Part of the criticism is as follows:

"I am sure that the Bishop of Hereford is sincere enough in his convictions. May I submit, however, that it is only a Baron Munchausen who pulls down a steeple to get at the weeds at its base! That some evils still attach to the turf I readily admit, but is it the only national institution similarly afflicted? With great respect I boldly assert that the Anglican Church itself is not free from crying evils. Does Dr. Percival, therefore, suggest the remedy in this case also of abolishing it altogether? To be quite consistent and logical, he ought to do so. Here we are at the very close of another flat racing season, and what (by common consent) are the facts? In the long annals of the turf—and it has grown with England's growth for many centuries—never has a nobler pastime been indulged in by any nation, ancient or modern. Never, moreover, has the turf in England been more heartily supported by rich, powerful and enthusiastic devotees than in 1902.

"It has provided a pastime for all classes, (1) enacted in the open air, (2) devoid of all cruelty, and (3) conducted (as far as possible) in accordance with the rules of fair play. Against such a pursuit, thus supported, therefore, it is idle for purists and scholars to lift up their parable. Equally idle is it to rave against concomitant betting, and to act and talk as if this can be stopped by act of Parliament. Betting does not belong to racing as a sport, and it is not fair to lay the blame wholly there—if the last named are foolish enough to imagine they can stop any sort of betting by legislative action, moreover, they are sadly out of their reckoning. Man is unquestionably a gambling animal; indeed, the very energy which makes us strive to rise in life is twin brother to the spirit which makes men gamblers. But even if that were not so, why try to crib, cabin and confine the operations of bona fide bookmakers?

"Really, one has no patience with people who talk of so doing. If the principles of betting, especially turf betting, were more clearly understood, they would cease to adopt such Shillibeeian tactics. On the contrary, they would co-operate with sportsmen in insisting (a) that betting should be formally legalized, (b) that bookmakers should be licensed, and (c) that, as the outcome, what has been called indiscriminate betting should be placed ex curia. Dr. Welldon, one of England's greatest headmasters and divines, has said: 'I cannot see that it is wrong in itself to bet,' and the vast majority of people agree with him. In any case, it is ridiculous of the faddists to strain the laws of morality almost to snapping to pretend to the contrary. Besides, 'betting upon the speed and endurance of a racehorse is unquestionably the noblest form of gambling in existence,' said the late Lord George Bentinck. And who will gainsay that?"

REIFF AND HENRY.

It is passing strange that "Johnny" Reiff, with a record of 116 winning mounts in France in the season just closed, and Henry, with a record of ninety-seven wins, should have been guilty of all the heinous offenses alleged against them by the French turf authorities, and for which they have suffered the extreme penalty—ruling off. In the absence of evidence of any kind, turfmen are bound to accept the ruling of the French Jockey Club; but while doing so many of them probably will be moved to wonder how these boys could have achieved such a large measure of success and still have been guilty of the wholesale pulling alleged. It is a trifle queer, to say the least, that our most skillful jockeys are the jockeys that are most depraved—that is, of our jockeys riding in foreign lands—and that of all of them who have gone abroad Maher alone has escaped the blight of official displeasure. Moreover, until now the most conspicuous victims have not been openly charged with wrongdoing. It is well understood that no suspicion of fraud attached to the riding of Sloan. The summary ending of his career was the price he paid for a personality which made him well nigh intolerable, but which in this country was overlooked or treated with the contempt which it merited, and which was about as severe a penalty as it called for. Then in the case of Lester Reiff, also a victim of the English stewards, there was the story of his sharp answer to an owner of influence who did not like a ride Reiff put up on one of his horses. "If my riding does not suit you get somebody else to ride your horses," Reiff is alleged to have replied, and it is also alleged that the owner then and there threatened to square the account with him. Whether the story be true or not, the fact remains that the account was squared, and squared with a vengeance. Singular also is it that our returning jockeys, filled with good words of their treatment on the turf of Russia, Austria, Germany and Hungary, have nothing but complaint to make of their treatment in England and France. We do not hear all the ill words said of the turf of the two latter countries by returning American jockeys, for the reason that not all of them will talk for publication. And always, whether in England or in France, where the Englishman ruled until the advent of the American jockey, they attribute their troubles to the jealousy of the English trainers and jockeys. Can it be that the atmosphere of Russia, Austria, Germany and Hungary is more conducive to honesty to the American jockey than is the atmosphere of England and France? The record supplies an answer in the affirmative, but whether the record contains the whole truth is a question which may not be answered here. We only know that Maher—looked on in England as more Irish than Yankee—is the only successful American boy in England or France who thus far has escaped the displeasure of the turf authorities of those countries.—Evening Sun.

JOCKEYS HANDICAPPED.

DAILY RACING FORM will from now on publish each week a table of the rating of the jockeys riding at each track based on their performances in the saddle. The best riders at each track will be given the uniform rating of 100, and from that point the others will be graded down according to their estimated relative skill. For a difference of five points between the jockeys a corresponding five points change in the handicap figures assigned the horses in any race must be made. Only riders frequently in the saddle will be given a place in the tables. The following is the rating of the jockeys now riding over the various tracks:

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

C. T. Boots' new English horse, destined to take Brutus' place at the stud, is St. Symphorien, by Muncaster (son of the Derby winner, Doncaster, that sired Ben 'Or, winner of the Derby), from St. Editha (dam of the Derby winner, St. Gatien, now at Rancho del Paso), by Kingly Vale. St. Gatien was almost invincible as a four and five-year-old, and St. Symphorien is already quite a sire, begetting St. Shadow (winner of the Furstenberg Memorial at Baden Baden), Oughterard (winner of the Tantery steeplechase), St. Servan, St. Jessica and Wide Awake II. The chances are much in favor of St. Symphorien making a great name in California as a sire, for the Ben d'Or horses (Muncaster is bred on almost identical lines with Ben 'Or) here—Golden Garter, Ormonde, Goldfinch, Orsini and Arklow—are siring some wonderfully good turf performers in this country.

W. R. Van Keuren, who purchased the old Linden track in New Jersey recently, is the man who some time ago bought the Monmouth Park tracks for $46,000. Van Keuren built the new Monmouth Park track and when he bought it in at auction it was generally believed that he had a "white elephant" on his hands. But he proceeded to break up the big iron grandstand and got rid of 950 tons at $20 each. After disposing of the other buildings and renting the land he soon got his money back and now owns the property, which has greatly increased in value. Mr. Van Keuren said after buying the Linden track that he would use it for manufacturing purposes.

Certificates of the pedigrees of the following yearlings, the property of W. C. Whitney, now in England, have been lodged with the English Jockey Club, in England:

Black filly, by Goldfinch—La Fleche.
Black filly, by Watercress—Lady Cardigan.
Chestnut colt, by Knight of the Thistle—Clementine.
Chestnut colt, by Knight of Ellerslie—Cassette.
Bay filly, by Kingston—Ballyhoo.
Bay filly, by Lissak—Caneta.
Bay filly, by Lissak—Rose Standish.
Bay colt, by Meddler—Handspan.
Chestnut filly, by Meddler—Edith Gray.
Bay filly, by Meddler—Poetess.
Chestnut filly, by Meddler—Yorkville Belle.
Bay filly, by Meddler—Victoria IV.
Brown colt, by Lissak—Aunt Betsy.
Chestnut filly, by Meddler—Kalula.
Bay filly, by Watercress—Orange Leaf.

A meeting of the stewards of The Jockey Club was held at New York last Monday. Those present were August Belmont, James R. Keene, Andrew Miller, H. K. Knapp, F. R. Hitchcock and F. K. Sturgis. At the conclusion of the meeting the following official statement was given out by Assistant Secretary F. Hanlon:

"On the recommendation of the stewards of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association jockey H. Merrick is reinstated to ride steeplechase and hurdle races. The application of jockey L. Smith for a rehearing in the matter of the revocation of his license is denied. Jockey F. O'Neill, who was suspended for his ride on Jessie Jarboe at the Buffalo meeting, is reinstated to good standing. R. W. Speakman, who was ruled off for violation of Rule 150 of the racing rules, is restored to good standing on all courses racing under the jurisdiction of The Jockey Club. The application of William Spurling to train on Jockey Club courses was denied."

Fred Foster, who for the last three seasons has trained one of the largest stables in Austria, is expected to visit his old home and friends in this country during the winter. He will probably be here the first of the year, but will remain only a short time. Fred Foster, one of the first trainers of thoroughbreds to carry the American invasion into Austria, where he revolutionized training methods, has had a most successful career in that far away country. In the few brief seasons there he has established a reputation as great as that held by Jacob Pincus, John Huggins, Eugene Leigh and other Americans whose work in England has placed them at the head of their profession there.

Jockey Martin saw Acefull on that colt's arrival in England and took a good look at the horse he will ride in next year's Derby, if no accident prevents. The colt, that now belongs exclusively to H. B. Duryea by virtue of H. P. Whitney's sale of his half interest, aroused much attention at Newmarket, and the critics spoke well of him. Martin thinks that the most prominent Derby candidates are several colts in the stable that Maher rides for.

Sidney Paget sailed for England last Wednesday to spend the Christmas holidays. At Sheephead Bay track Jack Joyner has twenty-four yearlings belonging to Mr. Paget that have shown much promise in their trials. Mr. Paget will have a large racing stable of his own next year, in addition to managing the big stable of J. B. Haggins, for whom Joyner also will act as trainer.

Consigned by Sir J. Blundell Maple, Bart., M. P., to be sold at

The AMERICAN HORSE EXCHANGE Thursday Eve., Dec. 18, 02
BROADWAY AND 50th ST., NEW YORK

The American Blood Stock Agency, John Hanning, Manager, has been favored with instructions from Mr Alex Waugh, M. R. C. V. S., Manager of the Childwick Stud, to sell the following Yearlings and Brood Mares:

YEARLINGS.

BLACK FILLY, foaled March 24, 1901, by Common (winner of the Triple Crown and a successful sire), out of Esther Clark, by Esterling (son of Sterling).
BAY FILLY, foaled March 25, 1901, by Common, out of Hedwig, by Buccaneer.
BAY FILLY, foaled February 19, 1901, by Common, out of Galata, by Galopin.
BAY FILLY, foaled April 13, 1901, by Common, out of Bloozen, by Sensation.
BAY FILLY, foaled May 21, 1901, by Childwick (winner of the Cesarewitch and sire of many winners), out of Omladina, by Royal Hampton.
BAY FILLY, foaled May 21, 1901, by Childwick, out of Royal Victoria, by Royal Hampton.
BROWN FILLY, foaled February 28, 1901, by Childwick, out of Homespun, by Hampton.
BAY FILLY, foaled March 15, 1901, by Royal Hampton, out of Bonnie Bunde II., by Doncaster.
BAY FILLY, foaled April 24, 1901, by Prince Hampton or Royal Hampton, out of Ste. Adresse, by St. Simon.
BAY FILLY, foaled April 25, 1901, by Gangway (sire of winners and son of Saraband and Gang Warily, by Sefton), out of Jennie Winkle, by Mr. Winkle.

BAY FILLY, foaled April 13, 1901, by Knight of Malta (sire of many winners and son of Galopin and Pilgrimage, by The Earl or The Palmer), out of Golden Coin, by Saraband.

BROOD MARES.

DORIMENE (10), chestnut mare, foaled 1893, by Bend Or (1), out of Link Girl, by Rotherhill. In foal to Royal Hampton.
SPANISH MATCH (1), bay mare, foaled 1895, by Royal Hampton (11), out of Allumouse, by St. Simon. In foal to Common.
MARCELLA II. (6), chestnut mare, foaled 1895, by Melton (8), out of Andreina, by Andred. In foal to Childwick.
VESPER (4), bay mare, foaled 1895, by St. Simon (11), dam La Cloche, by Hermit. In foal to Royal Hampton.
ARETUSA (6), chestnut mare, foaled 1895, by Melton (8) out of Arcadia, by Andred. In foal to Goblet.

Having the Childwick "Hall Mark," it is almost superfluous to state that they are all most fashionably bred and from great racing and producing families. Sir J. Blundell Maple's Racing String (all home-bred ones) have this season won 69 races in England.

Catalogues containing full tabulated pedigrees and other information will be ready in due course and mailed on application to
